To whom it may concern:

It is my understanding that the FCC has introduced a new broadcast service known as Low Power FM (LPFM), MB Docket No. 04-233, that could displace or replace some of our current FM listening.

As a long time listener and supporter of K-Love, I would be very upset and disappointed if we lost our local FM stations. K-Love provides individuals and community with family programming that is wholesome and uplifting and provides a positive place where the entire family can listen together.

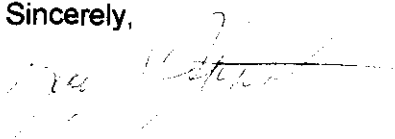

1. K-love serves me as a resident of my community by providing uplifting music and commentary that provides me with a positive input throughout my day. It provides community announcements and coming events as well as news and services are available if I have special needs or prayer requests.

2. The effect on a community is a difficulty one to measure on the short term basis. But if we are providing our community with a station that is positive and where the language is healthy for all, that leaves nothing but a positive impact. The station also provides information on community events and telephone numbers where people can call if they are distraught or needing prayer. Another point should be made. Since K-Love is totally listener supported, does that not speak volumes about the fact that people want this station available to them?

3. I honestly believe that keeping K-Love on the air and not replacing it with LPFM, is in the best interest of individuals and community. If there were no public interest in having this station locally, then the community would withhold their finances....but this is not the case. K-Love is funded by donations from those that are faithful listeners and those that believe in the values and objectives of the station. If the only thing a community has to listen to are stations with questionable values, language, and objectives, then that is what our communities will reflect.

Thank you for your time and reading about my concerns and the impact that LPFM could have to us as a community. Please reconsider LPFM and whether it is worth losing all the good that stations like K-Love provide. Our K-Love station is heard at 105.5, 89.1, and 100.9.

Sincerely,
